

dermatopathology essentials 2020

It is a great pleasure, in the name of the SGDV, to invite you to the second «dermatopathology essentials» course on november 21st 2020.

This one-day-course is one of the official and obligatory courses of the SGDV for dermatology residents. Pathologists and dermatologists with interest in dermatopathology are also warmly welcome to participate.

Dermatopathology is a very well-established and very important field of dermatology, which showed some extraordinary developments during the last 20 years.

We will organize the course yearly. With lectures focussing on clinical-pathological correlation, we will discuss the most important dermatopathology knowledge in a 3-year curriculum: whoever attends these courses for 3 years will get a good overview of the «essential» knowledge of this special chapter of dermatology and pathology.

The goal of this course is to equip you with the most significant dermatopathology skills and to demonstrate the particular importance of dermatopathology for your daily work as a clinician or as a pathologist.

You will experience an exciting excursion into the microscopic world under the surface of the skin.

Looking forward to meet you in Bern in November 2020.
